Retrial set July 12

Mixon jury deadlocks

"Tell them I'm not convicted yet," said 24-year-old David Mixon, on trial for aggravated rape in Williamson County's 26th District Court, at lunch time Thursday when jurors, still unable to reach a unanimous verdict, recessed for lunch.

Mixon's statement was still accurate two hours later when, after approximately 10 hours of deliberation, jurors were discharged and Judge Kirby Vance declared a mistrial.

In a Friday morning hearing $25,000 bond for the charge was reduced by half, although Mixon's attorneys had requested reduction $2,500. Mixon is also wanted in Travis County for aggravated robbery and bond forfeiture.

A NEW TRIAL date of July 12 was set then. Jurors sent out several notes saying they had "arrived at a unanimous conviction that it is not possible to reach a unanimous verdict." Just before they were dismissed the 12 told Vance they had reached the 10 to 2 impasse Wednesday afternoon.

"You don't know how we wept over it this morning," said Round Rock juror Mrs. G. T. Anderson as she explained the jury was split with 10 believing Mixon innocent. "We tried our best."

Jurors heard nearly a day and a half of prosecution testimony, including six hours of testimony by the woman Mixon allegedly raped December 6 after he robbed the Cedar Park U-Tote-M store where she worked. The Austin woman was found in Dallas approximately four hours later.

Mixon was arrested in a Dallas bus station December 11.

DEFENSE TESTIMONY began and ended Wednesday morning.

Mixon's mother Billie Kaufman, his foreman Henry Elkins and David Medrano, who reported he and Mixon had consumed nine or ten beers that night before getting into a fight with one another, preceded Mixon's own testimony.

After hearing two hours of argument from District Attorney Bill Connor and defense attorney Michael Grimes, jurors retired to consider the case at 2:20 p.m. Wednesday.

Between 9:30 p.m. Wednesday and 8:30 a.m. Thursday they were sequestered at a Round Rock motel, the first Williamson County jury to be held overnight in a number of years.

Over defense objection, the 12 were discharged by the judge shortly before 2:30 p.m. Thursday.

Jurors had been polled twice, with each asked individually if they felt it "highly improbable" that a unanimous verdict would be reached.

Polled Thursday at 10 a.m. 11 jurors agreed they could not reach unanimity. But Mrs. Alva M. Webster of Granger replied: "I'm not sure."

Grimes objected to the 12 being polled again Thursday afternoon just after jurors had sent out another note saying all but one juror was still convinced a unanimous decision could not be reached.

Mrs. Webster, after a long pause, murmured

Local youth doing well after near drowning

A local youth sent to intensive care facilities in Austin Thursday night was reported in good condition at Brackenridge Hospital late Friday.

Michael Pollard, 17, of 3004 Gabriel View Drive, was discovered lying at the bottom of a pool at that address in northwest Georgetown, according to reports from Georgetown Medical and Surgical Hospital.

Pollard was rushed by Williamson County ambulance to the emergency room at the Georgetown Hospital, where he was treated at approximately 9:30 p.m. Thursday. A night nurse said the youth was then rushed to the intensive care unit at Austin's Brackenridge Hospital at about 9:50 p.m.

His condition was listed as critical when he arrived at the Georgetown emergency room.

the passing glance

By Don Scarbrough

The big Democratic bash in Houston Friday night honoring Chairman Bob Strauss was considerably subdued by the failure of some of the big names to attend. Those who canceled included Jimmy Carter, Morris Udall, Hubert Humphrey, Ted Kennedy and Frank Church. Carter begged off because he was bone-tired from his campaign and wanted a rest, the four senators, apparently, just slapped Strauss in the face. The honoree deserved better. He has done a remarkable job in unifying the party in the past four years.

I KEEP HEARING rumors a jumbo residential and commercial development between Round Rock and Austin is being planned. Story is that a block of 2000 acres, larger than the entire city limits of Georgetown, has been bought for the purpose, the story goes. Also, that a couple of large industrial firms, one a national outfit, is considering putting plants in or near that city, perhaps between it and Hutto.

A jubilant Mike Riddle telephoned Friday afternoon to tell me he had sold enough of the Williamson County Historical maps to pay all costs, and had several thousand maps remaining. Proceeds from the sale of these will be used to make a contribution from the Heritage Committee to the Georgetown Bicentennial Commission to fund its program throughout the year.

So, call him Super Salesman! It took him just 4 hours of selling to do the job.

TV section in today's SUN

A four page SUN SPOTS TV section is included in this issue of The Sunday Sun. It contains a week-long listing of programs for stations received in the Georgetown area and should be slipped out of the paper, folded to half page size and kept for week-long usage.

This section, it is hoped, will be expanded to 8 pages within a week or so and contain information on entertainment, other than TV, activities offered in the local area for the coming week. The SUN hopes its readers enjoy and use the section.

Week's news in a nutshell

As city councils go these days, the Cedar Park City Council is at least thinking of something entirely new — a drop in the tax rate! Such a move will be considered when the council meets Monday evening. There is a hooker, however. While the rate will be lowered, the tax base will be raised, to even the whole thing off.

The hearing on Supt. Warner and Julia Young finally came to an end, with the Leander school agreeing to pay Warner $17,000, Mrs. Young $5,000 and everybody calling everything else off, except that Warner and Young are no longer employed by that system.

Governor Dolph Briscoe and his pretty wife were honor guests and he was the chief speaker at a Stiles Foundation Farm field day program Tuesday, near Thrall. Briscoe told the crowd of approximately 2000 that Texas is near to the top as the Number 1 agricultural producing state in the nation and within reach of also becoming the financial center of the nation, beating out New York and California.

Houston, or at least, a big portion of it, is trying to dry out after a torrent of rain that caused many millions of dollars in damages and claimed at least 8 lives Tuesday and Wednesday. 13 inches of rain fell in 13 hours.

American ambassador Francis E. Meloy, Jr. and another U. S. diplomat were murdered in Lebanon Wednesday and as the week ended many Americans were leaving that country, bag and baggage. Another explosive situation appears to be developing in the Union of South Africa where rioting in Johannesburg has resulted in 41 deaths thus far. Cause of the riots, apparently, was the enforced teaching of the Afrikans language in public schools, which enraged the blacks, but as the week ended many were recognizing them as being aimed at South African racial segregation and discrimination.

Taylor officials were laughing all the way to the bank with a whopping $38,590 check from sales tax refunds from Bullock's office, for the period between May 4 and June 4. Georgetown got $26,872, no mean sum itself, but quite a step behind Taylor's return.

By 1980 at least 30 nations will be able to make nuclear weapons and the world may be sliding toward a sure-nuff big war, the Swedish research institute said this week. Nuclear power reactors, built to provide electricity, can produce enough plutonium each week to make 10 atomic bombs as big

'Weed appreciate your assistance -- really'

It's the city's land, all right, but they're not the city's weeds.

Could we think about it like that, maybe? Georgetown Building Inspector Tom Sams and other city officials wish more local residents would take that line of reasoning as hot, humid weather approaches and mosquitoes go on their annual attack.

Sams says the city is having problems with some citizens who don't mow the area between the street and their yards, some of them contending that area is the city's responsibility.

"When a street is dedicated, it's drawn up as fifty feet wide, to indicate the right-of-way on each side of the actual road surface," Sams explained. "The street itself is 30 feet wide, with a 10-foot right-of-way on each side for installation of utility lines and things like that, so we don't have to go in and get an easement somewhere in the back."

THAT 10-FOOT RIGHT-OF-WAY creates the problem, he added. It actually does belong to the city, but it usually becomes simply a part of the lots adjacent to the street, where homeowners or renters establish their yards.

"In some places, high weeds and tall grass have grown up on those right-of-ways, but residents don't mow them," said Sams.

He emphasized that probably 90 percent of Georgetown residents do keep the right-of-way mowed, drained and cleared, like the rest of their yard, "just as a matter of civic pride, if nothing else."

But the 10 percent who refuse to mow the area, maintaining it to the city's problem, pose health and safety hazards to themselves and to their neighbors, said Sams. And they pose a headache to city administrators, caught between health and safety laws and the laws of economics.

"Our crews are pressed just to keep up with our mowing," said Sams. "If we also have to mow the overgrown right-of-ways, we have to hire additional personnel, which means a higher payroll, which probably means higher taxes in the end."

Sams conceded that city crews could go in and maintain the problem areas if absolutely necessary. He cited the city's health ordinances which require that city lots be mowed, drained and cleared, plus municipal authority over the right-of-way.

"But if we had to do that for every right of way in the city," he added, "we'd have to have, probably, three times the work force we do now."

Before the summer is out, he pointed out, weedy right-of-ways might spawn clouds of mosquitoes and other pests in standing water, plus accumulate litter and become a snake haven.

Junk cars and improper rubbish containers also trouble the city, said Sams. He called attention to municipal ordinances dealing with those problems as well.

"Unless a vehicle qualifies as a genuine antique and is properly maintained, the law says the city can have it removed from property with 10 day's notice to the owner," he explained. "If you have an old, junk vehicle that needs to be removed, you can call the city Building Inspection Department (863-6665) for help in having carried off."

Concerning garbage containers, Sams noted, "You might check your trash can. Ask yourself whether it has a tight-fitting lid that is kept on. Do you place it out for pickup on regular pick-up days? Do you put it back afterward? It would really help us."

He added, "If everyone would just maintain their property — and most do — it would be a credit to the town."

Maps now available

Williamson County Historical maps, brainchild of the Georgetown Bicentennial Commission Heritage Committee, have been distributed throughout the county and are "on sale" at least at 16 places.

Mike Riddle, co-chairman of the Heritage Committee, said Friday he had sold enough maps to pay all debts incurred in their printing and had 4200 maps left over.

Maps were purchased by Round Rock Chamber of Commerce, members of Williamson County Board of Realtors, Citizens State Bank, Georgetown Savings and Loan, Round Rock Savings and Loan, Georgetown Kiwanis Club, Gold's Department Store, Compton Automotive, Georgetown Railroad, Georgetown Hospital Authority, Southwestern Admissions Office, Davis Funeral Home, Atkin Furniture Store, Taylor Daily Press, Gus's Drug Stores and Williamson County SUN.

Dad's Day doings do differ

"Oh, Lord — I forgot.

"I sure better do something, fast."

That was about the most enthusiastic reaction around Georgetown Friday morning when persons out on the square were asked about their plans for Father's Day this Sunday.

Mark Mason — who probably spent the rest of the day worrying about an appropriate but really quick gift — is a Georgetown high schooler working parttime at the courthouse.

Lester Fisher of Florence, whose father lives with him, said that although no special plans had been made for the day, he would be giving his father a gift Sunday.

Aubrey Daniell of Florence will receive a useful "gift" from his son James.

It doesn't sound special, but Daddy is planning to haul hay, so I guess we'll help him," James reported.

"ONE SHOPPER on the square had a more solemn reply. "My dad died in '71. We're not planning anything," he said.

Three- and four-year-olds at the Mary Bailey Child Center didn't have many plans for the holiday weekend, except to present dads with the cards they had colored for them this week. Appropriately, the cards were in necktie shape, as brightly colored as any proud father could wish. A few, however, were expecting company. "My cousins will visit," Robert Black importantly narrated.

WHETHER IT IS family get-together or only a quiet memory of loss, Father's Day is an accepted institution in Georgetown.

Yet it is one of the nation's newest holidays, not signed into legislation until 1972.

While Mother's Day can be traced back to Christian celebrations honoring the virgin mother of Christ and beyond, to pagan worship of Rhea, mother of the gods, Father's Day has a much shorter history.

It was first suggested in the early 1900's, apparently by a number of persons independently reaching similar conclusions that fathers should be revered for their selfless dedication.

Mrs. John Bruce Dodd of Spokane, Washington, is most often given the title "Mother of Father's Day" because of her lifelong work to commemorate the selflessness of her father, who raised six motherless children, and of fathers like him.

Fears that the occasion would become too commercial kept Presidents Harding and Coolidge from proclaiming a national Father's Day.

Thirty-six years before the third Sunday in June was named a national holiday, the National Father's Day Committee was formed.

Although the "mother" of the occasion never cashed in on her idea, she never opposed gift-

WHAT ARE FATHERS MADE OF?

A father is a thing that is forced to endure childbirth without an anesthetic.

A father is a thing that grows when it feels good — and laughs very loud when it's scared half to death.

A FATHER IS SOMETHING accused of giving too much time to his business when the little ones are growing up.

That's partly fear, too.

Fathers are much more easily frightened than mothers.

A father never feels entirely worthy of the worship in a child's eyes.

He's never quite the hero his daughter thinks, never quite the man his son believes him to be — and this worries him, sometimes.

So he works too hard to smooth the rough places in the road for those of his own who will follow him.

A father is a thing that gets very angry when the first school grades aren't as good as he thinks they should be.

He scolds his son though he knows it's the teacher's fault.

A father is a thing that goes away to war — sometimes.

And learns to swear and shoot and spit through his teeth and would run the other way except that this war is part of his only important job in life, which is making the world better for his child than it has been for him.

FATHERS GROW OLD faster than people.

Because they, in other wars, have to stand at the train station and wave goodbye to the uniform that climbs aboard.

And while mothers can cry where it shows, fathers have to stand there and beam outside — and die inside.

Fathers have very stout hearts, so they have to be broken sometimes or no one would know what's inside.

Fathers are what give daughters away to other men who aren't nearly good enough, so they can have grandchildren that are smarter than anybody's.

Fathers fight dragons — almost daily.

They hurry away from the breakfast table off to the arena sometimes called an office or a workshop. There, with calloused, practiced hands they tackle the dragon with three heads: weariness, work and monotony.

And they never quite win the fight but they never give up.

Knights in shining armor or fathers in shiny trousers — there's little difference as they march away to each workday.

FATHERS MAKE BETS with insurance companies about who'll live the longest. Though they know the odds they keep right on betting. Even as the odds get higher and higher, they keep right on betting more and more.

And one day they lose.

But fathers enjoy an earthly immortality, and the bet's paid off to the part of him he leaves behind.

I don't know where fathers go when they die.

But I've an idea that after a good rest, wherever it is, he won't be happy unless there's work to do.

He won't just sit on a cloud and wait for the girl he's loved and the children she bore.

He'll be busy there, too — repairing the stairs, oiling the gates, improving the streets and smoothing the way.

Jimmy and Texas

Texas, known as a hangout for conservatives but historically Democratic, may do some high-powered agonizing on the presidential race, come November, which is sure to pit Jimmy Carter against either Ford or Reagan.

TEXANS LIKED JIMMY CARTER. Liked him so much, in fact, they gave him a thumping win over their own Senator Lloyd Bentsen in the May primary. So, everyone might think, Carter will easily win from the Republican standard-bearer in the general election.

But, it might not be that simple. For instance, John Connally, in spite of what he now says, could be on the ballot, especially if President Ford is the nominee. The only way Ford could possibly win in southern states, the pundits now say, would be to have an outstanding southerner as his running mate. John Kennedy recognized this hard fact when he made his race. He chose to put LBJ on his ticket and the two men won. Kennedy could not have done it any other way. Neither can Ford win unless, some way, he can beef up his appeal to southerners.

Carter will be running uphill in Texas because of some planks in the Democratic platform which will be most unpopular to many, perhaps a solid majority, of Texans. The entire platform is built around the Humphrey-Hawkins bill, designed to cure unemployment, right down to 3 per cent. Texans, who haven't been plagued greatly by unemployment but are suffering from continued inflation, see the bill as highly inflationary coming at a time when the nation actually appears to be making headway against ever-rising costs of living.

THE DEMO PLATFORM would add new soak-the-rich increases to the tax structure and to Social Security, providing more money for do-good social programs that are now unpopular in our state.

It would pay off organized labor by outlawing the right-to-work bill throughout the nation and support the common situs bill to allow one union to close down a construction site employing other unions not involved in a dispute. It is, critics claim, a continuance of the New Deal, the Fair Deal or the Great Society.

Carter is an appealing man who took advantage of anti-Washington sentiment to win easily from a large group of campaigners. His platform, however, isn't anti-Washington at all and it will be his task to retain his appeal, yet, at the same time, convince the electorate that he will remain the same great fellow after being elected president, even though he will have the Democratic platform as a bedfellow. No small task.

The most interesting aspect of the whole thing for us is the role John Connally will play. He's back in the running, most appealing to the GOP ticket that must have the support of Texas and other southern states.

Grass: the long & short of it

By Clayton Jones

Washington

Nellie Shriver's lawn was a mess. Neighbors complained of foot-high grass, bothersome bugs, and a threat to their property value. So the city of Akron, Ohio, moved in its tractors and mowed down the overgrown yard.

But the officials had neglected to find out that the Shrivvers purposely let their grass grow for "reasons of ecology."

In May, a court fight brought $500 to the Shrivvers and a no-mow injunction against Akron officials to keep their sheers off the Shriver lawn.

Those neatly-trimmed carpets of green which chain American homeowners to mowers, garden hoses, and fertilizers all summer long are under their greatest assault since the advent of the power mower.

And it is for more than "reasons of ecology."

For example: Half the people in the United States now think their neighborhoods are too noisy, and power mowers are a contributing factor. Restrictions on lawn sprinkling are tightening to conserve water. Fuel for mowers and fertilizer for lawns get more expensive every year. Rising property values cut into lawn sizes. And some grass pesticides are banned.

New ways simply to avoid cutting the lawn are cropping up, too. Chemical "growth regulators" are widely sold to stunt grass. Carefree ivy groundcovers and back-to-nature vegetable gardens supplant lawns in many suburban yards. And synthetic turf intrudes more and more onto natural sod.

Mrs. Shriver lists a variety of reasons for letting her grass grow: It saves human energy; protects the water table; prevents erosion and mower accidents; creates a natural temperature buffer and more oxygen; and avoids harm to insects, snakes, toads, and baby birds.

Such factors will not stop 40 million lawn mowers from clipping American lawns this summer, but the highly manicured lawn no longer has carte blanche acceptability.

Lawn-mower sales were down 24 percent last year for the first time in five years, and are already dropping this year, report major manufacturers. Non-power push mowers, are attracting new interest, and sales are high.

"The whole industry is moving toward letting grass grow longer," says Robert Schery of the Lawn Institute in Marysville, Ohio. "It fights weeds."

Many cities, such as Chicago, Dayton, Ohio; Grand Rapids, Michigan; Los Angeles; and New York are passing anti-noise ordinances which restrict lawn-mower use — usually to between 7 a.m. and 10 p.m. and not on Sunday mornings.

Chicago's four-year-old law limits mower noise to 50 decibels at an owner's property line (an accelerating truck hits 88 decibels at 50 feet away). Enforcement usually consists of negotiations between neighbors.

The U.S. Government will purchase 10,000 quiet lawn-mowers this fall to help spur new designs in the industry. Some manufacturers are already moving to alter blade speeds, isolate engine vibration, and beef up mufflers.

Lawn mowers will probably be designated a major noise source by the Environmental Protection Agency this fall, thus setting in motion a series of federal restrictions to be issued within the next two years.

In another step, several thousand suburban lawn-owners nationwide are transforming their yards into mini-refuges for animals under a three-year campaign by the National Wildlife Federation, the country's largest conservation-education group.

By letting a patch of lawn go wild, building a small pond and planting the proper food-bearing shrubs, residents with less than three acres can turn their green lawns into bone fide wildlife preserves.

Once a lawn is converted into a budding jungle, it is eligible for certification as a "bicentennial backyard habitat" from the official American Revolution Bicentennial Administration — even in Akron, Ohio.

CAPCO executives to review juvenile probation grant

Williamson County's $21,543 grant application for juvenile probation services goes before the Executive Committee of Capital Area Planning Council (CAPCO) for review and comment Tuesday morning.

The grant, with stipulation that $7,776 in county contributions will be included to fund the program, was approved by CAPCO's Criminal Justice Systems Committee June 2.

If CAPCO approval is received, Tuesday the grant will be submitted to the funding agency.

Application is being made for state funding through the Criminal Justice Division, a part of the Office of the Governor of Texas.

Entomology Notes

BY BOB GLOTT, JR.

FROM SEED TO FIBER
A FIGHT TO THE FINISH:

Although Williamson and Milam Counties are primarily agriculture oriented, there is a sizeable portion of the population not associated with agriculture. It is to those that do not really understand the problems involved in producing a bale of cotton that I direct this article. Actually, I will only touch on the insect associated problems.

In this area, four insects are considered pests or problems in producing a cotton crop. Each insect, thrips, bollworms, fleahoppers, and bollworms cause damage at certain periods or stages as related to the maturity of the crop. The phenology (development or growth stage) of the crop is extremely important in deciding when or when not to apply chemical applications to cotton.

Before insect control in cotton can be understood, it is necessary to have a basic understanding of how the plant grows.

Seven to ten days after planting, cotton plants emerge. For approximately 35 to 40 days after emergence, the plant develops vegetatively (no fruit is produced). During this period, cotton forms the basic structure or "frame" necessary to support fruit (squares and bolls). Somewhere around the 35th to 40th day after emergence, the first small squares are produced. Cotton squares (actually looks like green pyramids) are developing flower buds that will bloom in 20-25 days. The first day of blooming, blooms are white in color. After about three to five days, blooms turn red and fall off the plant.

Pollination occurs during the blooming stage. After the bloom falls off the plant the cotton boll is visible. Under normal conditions, an additional 50-60 days are required for bolls to mature and open (exposing cotton lint).

From the time cotton emerges from the ground, insects, weather, and disease threaten its existence. Thrips are small insects that damage small cotton plants by feeding on the terminal (growing point) portion of the plant. Thrips stunt small plants, delay maturity, and cause uneven fruiting.

Most growers use chemically-treated seed to reduce early problems of thrips. The chemical used is called a systemic insecticide which is taken up by the plant and kills the insect when it feeds on the plant. This protection lasts for only three to six weeks depending on the seed treatment used. Additional insecticide application may be necessary to control thrips before squaring. Once cotton has produced squares thrips usually do not cause damage. Once the first small squares are found on cotton, boll weevils move to the fields.

Body metrics

A yard is approximately the length from the tip of your nose (looking straight ahead) to your fingertips of an arm stretched out to the side. To determine the approximate length of a meter, just turn your head to the opposite side. A meter is just a little longer than a yard.

Dreams decline

Preschool children frequently experience terrifying anxiety dreams and nightmares. Nightmare activity declines for the 4- to 8-year-olds and further declines from 8 to 14 years of age.

Weevils are stimulated to leave hibernation by environmental stimuli such as daylength, temperature and relative humidity. These weevils are referred to as overwintered weevils.

Once cotton squares are 1 3rd grown (about the size of a pencil eraser) female weevils will begin egg laying. If you had ten female weevils per acre laying eggs, you would have 50,000 weevils per acre by the second generation. The unfortunate problem is that female weevils deposit their eggs in developing squares. Once an egg is laid in a square, the plant will reject the square and it will fall off the plant (the weevil will still develop, however). It is quite apparent that if overwintered weevils are not killed, all squares will be destroyed before the bolls mature.

Just about the time you complete chemical application for overwintered boll weevils, fleahoppers move to cotton from pastures. Fleahoppers feed on small squares causing them to turn black and fall off the plant. In situations where fleahopper numbers are heavy, so many squares can be "knocked off" the plant that cotton squares will never reach blooming and subsequently never produce a boll.

The bollworm sets the pattern and pace for the control of early season pests, (thrips, fleahoppers, and bollweevils). The reason is, the bollworm has developed high levels of resistance to insecticides. The most successful method of controlling the bollworm is to allow beneficial insects to keep them below damaging levels.

THE TRICK:

If early season control is extended too near the first bollworm egg lay, beneficial insects will not have sufficient time to rebuild to control bollworms. For this reason, most growers want to STOP early season chemical applications as soon as possible. Have you noticed that the aerial application of chemicals has decreased in the past week? Growers realize that chemical applications made too late in the season disrupt the balance between beneficial insects and the devastating bollworm.

THE BIG PICTURE:

In Central Texas, cotton producers realize that the most profitable method of producing cotton is to plant early, control early season pests and discontinue poisoning early enough for beneficial insects to build up.

I have been asked on occasions if cotton could be grown without the use of insecticides. In most instances cotton cannot be grown profitably without insect control.

County okay's CETA extension

County commissioners approved a CETA (Comprehensive Employment Training Act) grant package during their regular meeting Monday to fund the program through the remainder of the year.

Made necessary because the CETA program fiscal year was extended from June 30 to September 30 although no additional funding was made available, the "package" approved would provide use of Title II money when Title VI funds are exhausted.

"We have 14 people enrolled on Title VI right now," explained CETA Area Coordinator Kathy Swift. "We'll probably get through August 1. If we go to Title II money we could go through the end of November."

County employees paid through Title VI include two jailers, the assistant county attorney, a systems analyst, a maintenance man for Precinct 3, a county extension office secretary. Georgetown is provided a worker in the public library and a city sewer department employee.

Two Elderly Outreach workers at Williamson-Burnett County Opportunities, a city maintenance man in Granger, a Round Rock engineering technician and a Cedar Park city administrator are also employed through the CETA Title VI Emergency Jobs Program.

"We hired them with the stipulation that it would be only for the period that this money ran," said Wesley Foust, county commissioner. "I suggest we carry them on Title VI and Title II until the money is no longer available. Then we will have to switch them (to county-funded salaries.)"

Agencies utilizing Federal Revenue Sharing funds will submit an annual written report to the court, detailing types of expenditures made, in accordance with other Monday action.

FIVE HUNDRED DOLLARS, earmarked in the county budget for the Williamson County Historical Commission, will be released to the Commission following court approval of the payment.

Several bids on office equipment for the county clerk's office were opened and tabulated during the meeting.

Commissioners accepted a $6,616.30 bid on roller shelving and document files from J. W. Dolly Co. in Burnet, $1,100.50 for 10 files and a desk from Abel Stationers in Austin, $441.30 to Von Boeckman-Jones of Austin for two desks and $398.44 for a cabinet, chairs and typing stands from Bennet's in Dallas.

The clerk's office will be expanded into office space vacated by the county treasurer and tax office machinery.

Auditor Ben Kurio was given authority to advertise for bids on a tractor and shredder for Precinct 2. Bids will be opened July 12.

County fathers also approved sale of two pieces of Precinct 2 equipment, a used caterpillar motor grader for $2,000 and a 1952 pickup for $171.

A final equalization board hearing for 1976 was held during the Monday session, when court members voted to approve all values as initially set. Although five companies had contested the 1976 valuations, no one attended the public hearing to contest court action.

COUNTY-OWNED ASCS offices, former location of Farmers State Bank, will be regularly exterminated when the courthouse is treated, following more Monday action by the court.

Commissioners also approved a request from Sheriff August Bosshard to have a cigarette machine installed in the courthouse basement where the sheriff's office is located. Bosshard explained that a machine would be especially useful during early mornings, nights and weekends and when prisoners being temporarily held at the courthouse requested cigarettes.

Tax Assessor Collector

William Buck presented a contract hiring C. R. Law Tax Records, Inc., of Austin to update Williamson County's Delinquent Tax Roll (DTR) through 1975.

Delinquent taxes are recorded through 1939 at a cost of 20 cents per item.

Approximately six week's leave of absence without pay was granted Charlotte Hamilton, deputy tax assessor-collector, effective on or about July 15.

Ken Strange of Austin's Cecon, Inc., project engineer and planner for the proposed Brushy Bend Water Line, received county approval on location, construction, operation and maintenance for installation of pipelines from Round Rock to Brushy Bend Park.

Strange told commissioners a 10 percent performance bond totaling approximately $35,000 would be required of the contractor.

Total cost of the project was estimated to be "in excess of $300,000."

Public weigher's bond for Lillie M. Piel of Precinct 6 was among items approved Monday.

PERMANENT STREET MAINTENANCE in Lake Creek Village at Anderson Mill was accepted by the county. In accordance with county regulations, the subdivision is 80 percent occupied.

Acceptance of streets in Anderson Mill Villages 1, 2 and 3 was tabled.

Commissioners meet again June 28 to hear, among other items, a request from Justice Precinct Justice of the Peace R. V. Gann.

Disabled vets should check with VA before buying adaptive car equipment

Disabled veterans who are entitled to purchase or replace adaptive equipment for their automobiles with government financial assistance should check first with the Veterans Administration to make certain the equipment has been approved. Jack Coker, VA Regional Office Director in Waco reminded veterans recently.

New VA standards as to the quality and safety of such equipment went into effect January 1, 1976.

An estimated 63,000 disabled veterans of World War II and thereafter are eligible or have already received assistance in the purchase and equipping of automobiles, Coker said.

UNDER THE VA PROGRAM, a one-time grant of up to $3,300 is available to eligible veterans for the purchase of an automobile.

The VA will then provide financial assistance in purchasing special adaptive equipment which will allow the vehicle to be operated by paralyzed persons or amputees.

The VA program also provides for the repair, replacement or reinstallation of such adaptive equipment.

Depending on the nature of the veteran's disability, the adaptive equipment can provide for hand control of brakes and accelerator, relocation of foot controls or power equipment for seats and windows.

THE AMOUNT of VA financing for adaptive equipment is not fixed but depends on the needs of the individual veteran.

Eligibility for benefits under this program is limited to veterans of World War II and thereafter and current service personnel having service-connected loss, or permanent loss of use of one or both feet or hands, or permanent impairment of vision of both eyes to a prescribed degree.

Interested veterans should contact a VA benefits counselor or prosthetics representative at the nearest VA office, hospital or outpatient clinic, veterans county service officer or a veterans organization service representative.

Liberty Hill Panthers face uphill challenge

by DAMOND BENNINGFIELD
Building a football team with only ten experienced players, none with varsity experience, is not an enviable task, but it is the job Liberty Hill faces when it begins varsity football play this season for the first time since 1968.

"You could definitely say we will be building," Liberty Hill coach Daryl Moffitt said, "but we'll be taking them one game at a time."

One game at a time is about the only way they can take them, because the team is beginning the season with ten players returning from last year's junior varsity team, which itself had only 14 members.

The JV had a 5-5 record, with many of their games against Class A junior varsities, but the step up to varsity play will be a tough one.

In the first game of the season last year, they played the Salado varsity, and Moffitt said they "took it on the chin pretty good."

"But," he adds, "we're just going to try to get our feet on the ground, and get some experience."

Experience and depth are the main things the team lacks. Many of the ten returnees will be playing only their second year of organized football. Most are juniors or sophomores, and Moffitt may have to rely on incoming freshmen to take up some of the slack.

"We have an awful lot of eighth graders this year that will be coming in as freshmen, but I really doubt they'll help much. Most of them will probably be playing on the JV because they need the experience."

In the future, the growth of Liberty Hill will give the team more people to draw on, Moffitt says.

"We've had a good bit of growth in the last two years, so we'll probably have two or three more in this summer and it should keep on growing."

But that's in the future, and for this season Moffitt will have to rely on the players he has, and from that crop he will have to begin by finding a quarterback.

Last year's quarterback, Roy Montemayor, will be returning, but he lacks one thing to be a good varsity quarterback — size.

"He's a good athlete," Moffitt said, "but he just doesn't have the size. He's only about 5-6, 125 pounds."

The biggest player on the team is Donnie Johnson, at 6-2, 180, a junior who started at fullback last year, followed by junior tackle Travis Gilmore, who weighs about 175 pounds. Gilmore is a

Third in a series

"pretty good punter," Moffitt said, "probably better than any we played against last year."

Neither Johnson nor Gilmore will necessarily be starting at the same positions this season, however.

"We'll just have to see what we've got, and then we'll probably be making some position changes. But nothing is set right now."

Another position Moffitt is looking to fill is center, because Perry Baugh, who started at that position, may not even be back at Liberty Hill, Moffitt says.

Others returning from last year's team include Eric Weems, a senior who Moffitt says was "one of our better running backs; David Hernandez, a sophomore tackle; Mark Walker, a tight end; Edward Smith, a sophomore who played nose guard on defense and running back on offense; Eddie Brewster, 5-6, 130-pound halfback; and Robert Stevens, a 6-0, 155-pound end.

Of the other four on last year's JV, three played out their last year of eligibility (although they did not graduate), and as for the fourth, "his father told me he wouldn't be back next year."

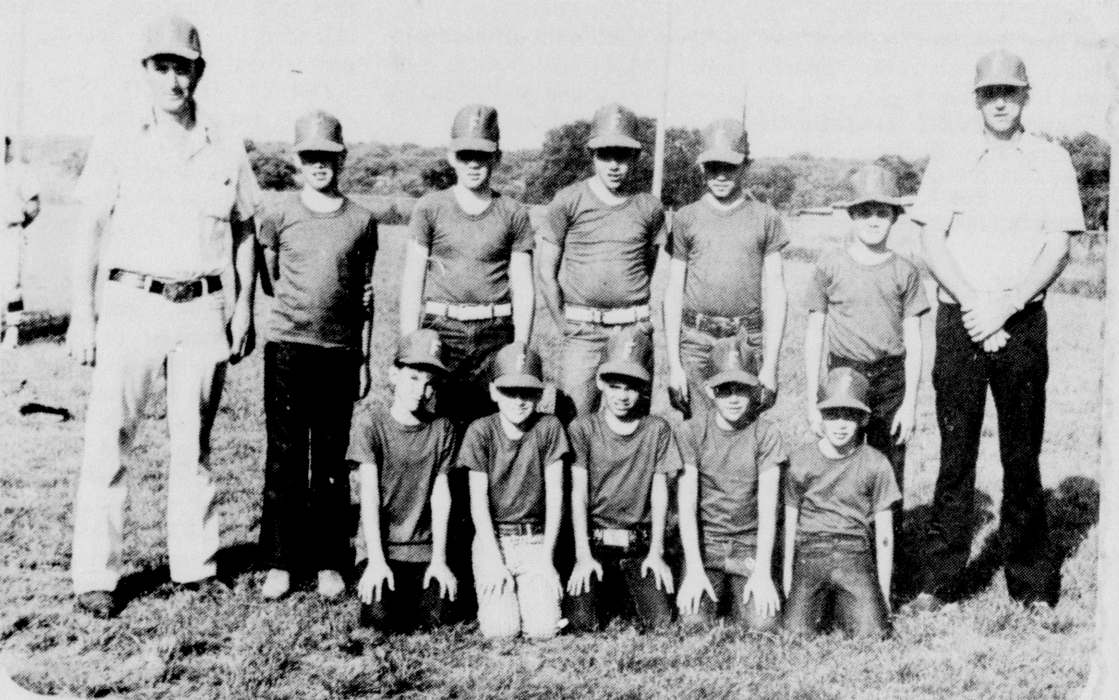

For Moffitt, however, the building program is a challenge, and he says it will be "interesting."

"Everybody is real interested, and all the players have a real good mental attitude, so I think we'll all learn a lot from it."

And with such bleak prospects for a winning season, learning a lot may be the most important thing to happen to the Liberty Hill football team this season.

Tobolka makes All-America team

Rick Tobolka of Southwestern University at Georgetown was one of 14 pitchers to be named to the All-American team by the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) this week.

The mythical team also included two others from the Big State Conference, pitcher Danny Heep and shortstop Glen Tschirhart, both of St. Mary's University, which edged Southwestern by half a game for the conference championship.

Heep made the second team All-American selection while Tobolka and Tschirhart were on the honorable mention list.

"Tobolka certainly attracted the attention of the coaches who voted," said Southwestern Coach Jim Mallon. "He was one of few, if any, of the players named to the All-American team whose teams weren't in the play-offs."

Tobolka, a resident of Austin who transferred to Southwestern from Concordia College, was the only pitcher on the team with a perfect record (7-0).

"Even more impressive was the fact that he went the distance in every game — he's the only pitcher I ever coached who did that," says Mallon. This included an 11 inning game with Texas Lutheran that Southwestern finally won 4-3 and a no-hit, no-run game against Mary Hardin-Baylor.

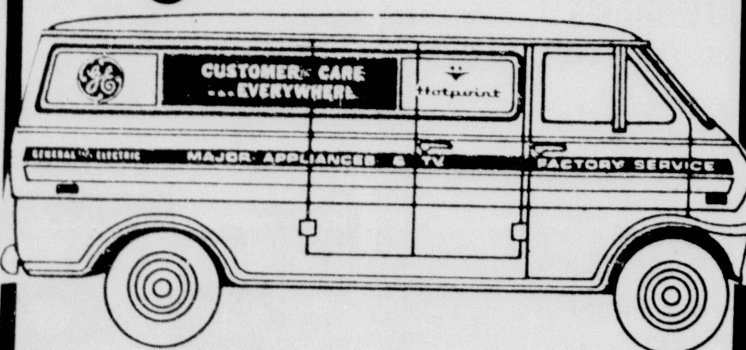

Tobolka, 6-5 and 220-pounds, was also the largest pitcher on the All-American squad. The right-hander used good control and a strong fastball to lead the team in strike-outs with 41 while allowing only 11 bases on balls for an earned run average of 1.71.

Mallon said that Tobolka worked hard in the off-season to improve his strength, and it really helped. "He increased his velocity from average speed last fall to above average this past spring," Mallon said.

Tobolka will be a junior next year on a team that returns most of its players from a 33-12 season, the best in Mallon's six years at Southwestern.

Three local players sign with Pirates

Three top Central Texas high school baseball players have now signed to play with the Southwestern University Pirates.

The trio includes a pitcher, catcher, and an outstanding fielder and hitter from Belton, Georgetown and Round Rock. The pitcher is Bill Harlow of Belton, one of the top prospects in the area, according to Pirates Coach Jim Mallon.

A top candidate for all state honors, the left hander had a .075 earned run average this season. He is 5-10 and 165 lb. and plans to major in the sciences at the state's oldest university.

The infielder-hitter is Georgetown's own Mark Zimmerhanel, an infielder who hit .422 his junior year and .375 this season and has been an all district selection twice and a member of the Super CenTex team.

The four year letterman at Georgetown also played basketball and plans to major in physical education at Southwestern.

From just down Interstate 35 will come the catcher, David Cluck, a 6-1, 180 lb. Round Rock graduate who hit .372 in his senior year with seven home runs in 23 ball games. He was named Round Rock's most valuable player last season.

"All three of these players have fine potential for college baseball and should make an outstanding contribution to our team," says Mallon, whose team won more than 30 games for the fourth year in a row this past season while placing second in the Big State Conference.

THE FLORIDA BOYS ...
kick off Western Week with Monday night concert

Western Week rides in

Strap on your spurs and round up your mount, pardner! Western Week's a-ridin' into Georgetown again Monday.

The traditional celebration, centered around the annual Williamson County Sheriff's Posse Rodeo, gets under way Monday night with a Gospel Music Night performance by the acclaimed Florida Boys gospel group.

This year's concert will be held in the Community Building at San Gabriel Park (that's north of town off U. S. 81, or Austin Avenue, for them what ain't familiar with these parts) at 8 p.m.

Western Week activities have been reduced somewhat this year, in consideration of the upcoming July 4 Bicentennial bash, but the big draws will play as usual.

That includes the 33rd Annual Williamson County Sheriff's Posse Parade, the regular follow-up to Gospel Night. The parade will roll out of San Gabriel Park at 4:15 p.m.

Thursday, winding south down Austin Avenue, east on Eleventh Street, north on Main Street, west on Second Street, then back north into the park.

This year's parade includes a decorated bicycle contest. The first place winner will receive a $10 award, second place $7.50, third place $5 and fourth place $2.50.

The Sheriff's Posse Drill Team, floats, bands and bicyclists will line up for the parade at 3:15 p.m. Thursday near the Rodeo Arena in the park.

FOLLOWING THE PARADE will be the first performance of the Sheriff's Posse Rodeo, produced by veteran rodeo entrepreneur Tommy Steiner and acclaimed one of the best in Central Texas.

Rodeo performances will begin at 8 p.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday, with each show to be held in the Sheriff's Posse Rodeo Arena.

Dances will also be held in the Community Building each rodeo night beginning at 9 p.m. Top performers appearing include Tommy Allen and the Brazos Sounds on Thursday night, Shirley Hester on Friday night, and The Country Blues on Saturday night.

For a handy reference to Western Week events, times, places and admission charges, as well as ticket information, clip out and save the schedule on this page.

Then get your western wear, the appropriate dress for the week, and saddle up for seven days of fun. See you there.

Additives help

Without food additives, cottage cheese would separate, cookies would dry out in two days, foods with fat or oil would become rancid and marshmallows would get hard. Many food additives perform important functions consumers desire.

Versatility distinguishes Gospel Night performers

The Florida Boys keynote has always been versatility. And in 1976 the legend of the Florida Boys continues to grow. Surfacing in all areas of the music world, the five man group can be seen in any given month, in gospel concerts, performing in the mammoth show productions of the county and state fairs and in country music concerts, adding their specific sound of country flavored gospel music to some of the largest audiences ever assembled under one roof.

The Florida Boys are firmly ensconced in the gospel realm of entertainment — recording for the Canaan label, concert performances throughout the country and the group also hosts the widely copied and viewed gospel/religious oriented television show "The Gospel Singing Jubilee."

The unique ability of each member of the group to quickly double from one role to another and fit into several different categories as a performer, obviously denotes the Florida Boys capacity for entertaining in the greatest sense.

The smooth blend and big sound the group has hit upon is no surprise... the group, headed by lead singer Les Beasley, identifies easily in every aspect of music. The uniqueness of the group is a blending... that of Les... along with young bass singer Buddy Liles... who defies almost all singing proprieties as he reaches down and pulls up from the bottom to a double low "C".

A vital part of the big blend sound for many years is Glenn Allred... senior member and baritone singer of the group, and also songwriter. The talented singer has often written many of their concert songs.

Laddie Cain's interpretive powers of gospel music and his ability to deliver his interpretations to his listeners is a wonder... not only at the massive talent, but the talent at such a young age... Pianist Derrell Stewart's widely acclaimed flashing smile and flair for showmanship has added sparkle and dimensions of good humor and laughter to audiences for years.

The big sound... the big sound and big blend... for sure it's a factor in gathering audiences together for entertainment. The Florida Boys' style, blend and sound offer all of this... good, great, grand... entertainment... THE FLORIDA BOYS.

Summer camp joys await four local youths

The joys of summer camp await four local boys for one week this summer beginning Monday.

The boys will attend the Salvation Army Camp Hoblitzelle, near Dallas, according to Sarah D. Brookshire, near Dallas, according to Sarah D. Brookshire, Salvation Army Service Unit Committee camp chairman.

Chosen to attend the camp from Georgetown are: Pedro Cobio, Jonas Medrano, Otis Mitchell, and Gilbert Vasquez. They will leave by bus for camp on Monday, and will be met by a Salvation Army representative.

Each boy's trip is paid for by the local Salvation Army Service Unit Committee which is supported by contributions. They are part of a group of 900 boys from all over Texas who are chosen to attend four one-week summer camps.

"Their experiences will compare favorably to those found at expensive boys' camps anywhere in the nation," Sarah Brookshire said. "They will ride horseback on the camp's many trails; swim in the large pool and fish from sparkling streams on a 30-acre lake."

Activities also include hiking through the camp's wooden

Council passes variances for Serenada East plat

Three variances from the Georgetown subdivision ordinance were granted developer Bob Stanton for the Serenada East subdivision Tuesday afternoon, as the City Council approved a plat for the project at a special meeting.

Councilmen approved a 25-foot, curbless main road for the subdivision, rather than requiring the 30-foot curbed surface called for by the ordinance. They also agreed to permit one road curve with a 200-foot radius and one with a 240-foot radius rather than demanding the 300-foot curve radius dictated by the ordinance.

Asst. City Manager W. L. Walden said the ordinance permits variations for "conditions peculiar to the subdivision" and explained that the Council's action was based on several considerations.

The roads joining the subdivision's main road from the outside are only 24 feet wide and curbless, and state highways and county roads leading to the development are also no more than 20 feet wide and curbless, said Walden. Also, the curve variances will spare large oak trees from removal.

"This does not set a precedent," Walden added. "The Council specified that each subdivision requesting variances from city ordinances will be looked at in its own light. These variances were granted because of conditions peculiar to the subdivision."

The variances had also been approved by the city Planning and Zoning Commission at its last meeting.

The development consists of 43 half-acre lots adjoining Municipal Airport on the west. No other action was taken Tuesday.

The Council will meet in special session again next Friday, June 25. Construction bids for the new Georgetown Neighborhood Center and an addition to the Stonehaven Center (both to be funded through the city's 1976 federal Community Development grant) will be opened at the meeting. Councilmen will also consider a resolution setting a time and place for a public hearing on annexation of Northwood Oaks and hear a request for rezoning on Park Lane.

A Council committee will also report on site recommendations for a new Georgetown Jaycee Club facility.

Local youth participate in summer reading program

Young readers at Georgetown Public Library are participating this summer in the Summer Reading Club, cosponsored by the library and the Texas State Library.

They are among more than 100,000 youngsters from throughout the state who will be spending part of their summer vacations reading for fun. They will be keeping records of what they have read in red, white, and blue reading logs.

"Movin' On... Then and Now" is the theme for 1976. Children dressed in appropriate costumes are shown in a canoe, horse-drawn trolley, balloon, early train, stagecoach, early automobile, steamboat, biplane, helicopter and moon rover. These pictures appear on the posters as well as on the reading log activity books that each participant will receive. Each reading log also includes a cut-out figure that may be used to move across a time line that shows vehicles in their proper place in history.

Public library summer reading programs focus upon reading for enjoyment. Public library collections include a wide range of both informational materials and fiction. In addition to the books they read as participants in the Reading Club, youngsters will also see films, puppet shows and other programs that will be carried on in the libraries.

Project coordinator is Verne Philpot.

Melinda Eidson and Penny Draeger are also conducting a Summer Story Hour at the public library each Wednesday at 10 a.m.

PART OF THE NEW Bicentennial exhibit now on display in Southwestern University's Cody Memorial Library is shown by Mrs. Bob Lancaster, who with the help of Mrs. Don Scarbrough, Claude Kennard and Truitt Lattimer of the State Historical Commission has put together several showcases on "America's Impact on Architecture — With Emphasis on Restoration." The exhibit covers the subject both nationally and in Texas with this display especially featuring local historical architecture. There is also some interesting displays on how old bottles, wallpaper and other things found in old buildings can help date those buildings. The public is invited to view the displays during the next several weeks. There is a shelf of related books available to students on the topic.

Barbara Berkman elected Girls State Commissioner

Barbara Berkman, who is representing Georgetown High School at Bluebonnet Girls State, has been elected Place 1 Commissioner of Declaration County. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Berkman, she is sponsored by American Legion Auxiliary 447.

Girls State was organized as a national Americanism activity in 1937 by the American Legion Auxiliary. Non-partisan and non-political, the purposes of the Girls State program are to provide citizenship training for girls of high school age, to afford them an opportunity to live together as a self-governing group and to inform them of the duties, privileges, rights and responsibilities which they will assume when they become adults. Girls learn the problems of government by assuming the duties of city, county and state officials as stipulated by the Texas Legislature.

Each year citizens are selected at local levels from students who have just completed their junior year in high school. The selection is based principally on leadership, character and scholarship.

The 1976 session of the American Legion Auxiliary Bluebonnet Girls State has grown from an experimental conference of 94 girls, held at Baylor University in 1941, to become the largest single extra-curricular educational program for high school girls in Texas. This year 508 girls are in attendance, making a total of more than 12,000 girls in Texas who have participated in this top-level citizenship program.

Former citizens of Girls State and members of the Texas American Legion Auxiliary comprise the 60 members of the staff and counselors who volunteer their services to direct and lead this program. The chairman-director is Miss Frances Goff of Houston, director of Special Projects for the University of Texas M.D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute at Houston. The associate director is Miss Mary Ellen Trahan, chairman of the Department of Social Studies at Clear Lake High School in League City. The assistant director is Mrs. Pierce Doan of Stamford.

Chief Justice Joe Greenhill of the Texas Supreme Court administered the oath of office to the elected state officials of Bluebonnet Girls State Monday, June 14, in the Rotunda of the State Capitol.

One of the highlights of the session which began June 8, and ends June 18 will be the selection of three outstanding citizens of 1976 who will be sent to Girls Nation in Washington, D.C. also sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary. There the three young representatives will continue their study in responsibilities of the Republic.

A Letter From Daddy

Her father has sent a letter and a picture, too, to show his family what he's doing while they are apart. It makes them feel close and it comforts them.

Our Heavenly Father has written us a love letter and given us a picture of what He is doing for us while we're apart. Both are contained in the words of the Bible.

In Jeremiah 31:3 He says, "I have loved thee with an everlasting love; therefore with loving kindness I have drawn thee."

And Our Lord tells us in John 14:2, 3, "In my Father's house are many mansions; if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you. And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto myself: that where I am, there ye may be also."

We invite you to attend church this week. You'll receive a blessing from having done so.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Coleman Adv. Ser.

Liberty Hill NEWS

BY HOWARD N. WILSON

This will be a particularly BIG WEEKEND in our town with the Arts and Crafts Fair in the limelight. All Arts and Crafts students from all area universities and colleges in the area have received special invitations to be present and participate in the fair; there will be a remote broadcast by KHLB in Burnet of five hours of radio time for the Liberty Hill Arts and Crafts Fair. Be sure to make time in your schedule to go by or better still, take part in the Liberty Hill Arts and Crafts Fair. We hope to see you there!

On the weekend of July 3 and 4, there are many varied activities planned so as to include something that will be of interest to everyone. There will be categories for handmade quilts, home canned foods, home baked items and home grown garden produce. It is our understanding that as many items as you desire can be entered in each contest for an entry fee of $1; all items which are entered will become the property of the Liberty Hill Community Association, and all proceeds will go into the treasury of the Community Association to be used in their Community Betterment project!

Friday a pageant is planned, and Saturday activities will include the parade, games such as horseshoes, washer toss and various other games; there will be judging of the quilts, produce, canned items and baked goods. There will be a barbecue lunch at noon. A street dance with a costume contest is scheduled for Saturday evening, July 3. Sunday, July 4, there will be a turkey shoot, a black powder gun demonstration; and the unveiling of Mel Fowler's sculpture and historical medallion Sunday afternoon.

Programs for the bicentennial blast will be sold, and a quilt, as well as a gun will be given away. To enter the contests or to help with the activities of the event you should contact Mac Williamson.

A bicentennial parade will start at the school house at 10:30 a.m. Saturday, July 3, with the Liberty Hill High School Band proudly leading the way, sporting their new band uniforms. The possibilities for entries are unlimited, with the main idea being to depict the role of the sponsoring organization in the history of America and its growth. To enter the parade address your letters to parade, P. O. Box 331, Liberty Hill, Texas, 78642, or call 778-5265 after 6 p.m. on work days and anytime on the weekends. Entries should be submitted by July 1, and you should be sure to include your name, the type of entry, the sponsoring organization.

The Liberty Hill VFW Post No. 8200 will meet on Tuesday June 22, at 7:30 p.m. in the U-Pack-It Store located on Highway 29. All members are exhorted to make a special effort to be present at this meeting; plans are being formulated for the VFW to have a part in the activities during the bicentennial weekend.

The Joe Ed Canady family left last Friday evening to attend the rehearsal and wedding of Rhane Hoppe and Jack Ziller in Winters.

Lisa and Charles Canady played their trumpets with the accompaniment of an organ; Lisa also played her guitar while Rhane's sisters sang the wedding song. Faye Canady, Melvina Floyd and Sandi Carlisle served at the bridegroom's table.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ziller left after the wedding for a honeymoon trip in Colorado.

Liberty Hill trustees purchase land for stadium and expansion

Liberty Hill trustees met in special session Monday night to confirm purchasing and financing approximately 30 acres of land and to consider Goals Committee recommendations.

Purchased at $1,000 an acre from Cecil Perry, the land will be used to build a football stadium and for building expansion.

Presently facing a problem of overcrowding in the elementary school, Superintendent Bud Perry surmised that the high school will be converted into an intermediate school and that a new high school will be built adjacent to the stadium in three to five years.

The present school is built on the site of the old Liberty Normal and Business College, in existence between 1885-1910.

COMPOSED OF PARENTS, teachers and students, the Goals Committee presented recommendations for a school philosophy, goals and goal indicators, due in the Texas Education Agency office in August.

This first step in obtaining accreditation is followed by a self study during the coming school year, a needs assessment and formulation of a five-year plan.

Upon completion of these requirements, accreditation will be retroactive to September. If the school district should "stump their toe," LHS seniors would graduate from an unaccredited high school in 1977.

They wrote: "We believe that each individual is by nature a unique personality common only to himself, thus commanding self-respect, respect from others and an awareness of his personality to be one continually in a state of growth and development."

"We believe in every school activity that the individual should be surrounded with a wholesome and moral environment."

"We believe that our public schools should strive to provide a program of education adapted to the needs, interests and abilities of each individual student; provide the training and experiences for his physical, mental, emotional and social abilities and attributes; to prepare the individual to meet life's situations with every reasonable measure of satisfaction to himself and a full measure of responsibility to others; to help each individual live a healthy, happy, useful life."

Committee members writing the philosophy were Lisa Canady, Ann McMurry, Mac Williamson, Charles A. Carlisle, Louise Marcom, Lorine Noble and Hazel Williams.

Goals were categorized according to intellectual discipline, economic and occupational competence; citizenship and political understanding and competence; physical and environmental health and ecological balance; appreciation of culture, language and life style diversities and their corresponding aesthetic values; competence in personal and social relations and use of leisure time. Goal statements were rated on a five-point scale by parents, teachers and students in a recent survey.

Swift, Harris visit India with 22 other professors

Two faculty members of Southwestern University will be learning more about India for the next seven weeks on a traveling seminar sponsored by the Association of Colleges and Universities for International-Cultural Education (ACUIIS).

Dr. William D. Swift, vice president for student development and services, and Dr.
Jack Harris, assistant professor of English, will join 22 other professors and administrators from the consortium of 36 member institutions in ACUIIS.

After an orientation in New York from the Indian delegate to the United Nations, the group will spend three weeks in New Delhi for lectures and seminars and then will tour much of the rest of India to visit villages and large cities and to see historic and religious sites.
Part of the tour will be spent living with Indian families in the city of Madras.

Harris and Swift have been visiting with a member of the Southwestern faculty from India, Dr. Horace Jacob, in preparing for the trip. Dr. and Mrs. Jacob recently became citizens of the United States of America.

The opportunity to visit India
"should enhance our international studies program," said Swift, who is the advisor for foreign students at Southwestern.

Harris plans to teach a course on India when he returns next year.

Southwestern has an international studies major, and the school encourages foreign study and travel among its faculty and students. The university has been among the most active of the ACUIIS members, and Southwestern President
Durwood Fleming presently serves as president of ACUIIS.

Last summer Dr. F. B. Clifford, dean of the Brown College of Arts and Sciences at Southwestern, took part in a traveling ACUIIS seminar to Egypt.

and an afternoon coffee at 4

The Kueger Hobby Shop will ed to display any item or items of their choice. All descendants of the Krueger family are invited to be present.

Krueger, president; Roy Gray, vice president; and Joyce S.

Summer... So little time, so much to do... let Want Ads be of help to you

LAYING ON OF HANDS - Bishop Eugene Slater ordains Minnie Cartano Sunday morning in services held in the Lois Perkins Chapel at Southwestern University. Ms. Cartano, a student at Perkins School of Theology in Dallas, was the first woman to become a deacon in the Rio Grande Conference of the United Methodist Church, the only Spanish-speaking conference in the nation, which meets each year at Southwestern. It was the final conference over which Bishop Slater presided. About 300 from Texas and New Mexico attended the three-day conference in Georgetown.

Riethmeyer- Minzenmayer reunion set

The Riethmeyer-Minzenmayer family reunion starts at 11 a.m. Sunday at the Taylor American Legion Hall.
With festivities lasting until approximately 4 p.m., 150 persons are expected from West Texas, Colorado and Louisiana, as well as the Georgetown-Taylor area.

Besides a devotional and a slide show of the original German homestead of the Riethmeyer family, a barbecue luncheon will be sold. Softball games and domino-playing are also scheduled.

The recently-published book of the family history will be distributed during the day.

How to Avoid Pickling Problems

AUSTIN--Commercially prepared pickles are convenient, but home canned pickles are highly prized for their fresh, delicious taste and crisp texture.

Texas cucumbers are doing well, thanks to spring rains, and they should be plentiful for cooks who want to "put by" their own pickles.

The Texas Department of Agriculture home economist says that it is important to learn to distinguish between spoiled pickles, which should not be eaten, and those which are unattractive but still edible.

She points out that cooks should learn to check pickles (and other canned foods) for the following signs of spoilage: broken seal;
seepage around a seal; mold in the contents or around the seal or on the underside of the lid; bubbles in the contents; spurting liquid as the jar is opened; mushy or slippery pickles; cloudy or yeasty liquid; and off-odor, disagreeable smell or musty smell.

Canned foods exhibiting any of the above signs should be destroyed so that neither people nor animals can eat them. The jars and closures should be washed in hot soapy water and then boiled for 15 minutes in clean water.

If jars have good seals and there are no signs of spoilage
but the pickles are hollow, shriveled, dark, or bleached,
they are still edible.

Hollow pickles can result if more than 24 hours elapsed between the time the cucumbers were pickled and the time they were pickled.
Cucumbers that developed imperfectly on the vine can also cause hollow pickles;
these may be culled out
when washing the cucumbers since they float in water.

Shriveled pickles may be caused by too-hard water or by too fast cooking in a sugar-vinegar solution, or by putting cucumbers into a salt, vinegar or sugar solution.

Hard work : All in a sheriff's day

by NEL PERSKY

Williamson County Sheriff August Bosshard, who received the Democratic nomination in runoff balloting last week, may have seen many changes in the county since he began law enforcement work here in 1957, but there is one aspect he says is definitely unchanged.

Even though Williamson's population is rapidly increasing, the type and amount of crime here is not those which notoriously beset urban areas.

Although he notes that his caseload has increased fourfold — by 30% since 1969 — Bosshard said, "I refer to Williamson County as a 'clean county.' There's no county in the state of Texas that doesn't have some amount of juvenile delinquency, rapes, theft, burglary, murder — everything. If it isn't one thing it's something else."

"But, for instance, the city of Austin has three or four armed robberies every 24-hour period. That's far below the number we have in Williamson County. We have very few armed robberies in the county."

In fact, Bosshard lists only a few types of crime as having obviously increased during the years he has worked in the county sheriff's office.

"EIGHTEEN and a half years ago, when I went to work here, there weren't very many reports of marijuana or drugs in Williamson County. In the last six years it really increased. Prior to six or seven years ago we seldom knew what marijuana was. It was something usually handled by DPS, and it was very rare."

"It probably had something to do with United States soldiers in Viet Nam getting accustomed to it and bringing it over here. From my work with the Veterans of Foreign Wars I am aware that the veterans are concerned with military people coming back using this. And a lot of traffic through Williamson County is military-involved."

Of increasing juvenile delinquency the sheriff said tersely, "Same story." But he added, "One usually has a broken home, or both parents are working and the child is left to the care of an older brother or sister."

"But I don't think it really increased — we have more people in the county. We had juvenile problems back in 1957, such as runaways. I don't think it's any worse now than it was back then."

The sheriff also noted that burglaries are on the increase here, as elsewhere, and particularly in rural areas.

YET BOSSHARD HAS SEEN many changes in the county's law enforcement office over the years. "I started here October, 1957. At that time there were one sheriff and two deputies for Williamson County. Now we have eight deputies, including a secretary, three jailers and five dispatchers, including the supervisor."

"READY FOR ANYTHING" — Sheriff August Bosshard studies a report in his new courthouse basement office, ready for his next four years in office. Bosshard initially became Williamson County Sheriff in June, 1974, when the late Henry Matysek died in office.

The sheriff also has a new office, and the new dispatch system. "That helps, definitely. It cuts down on response time. Dispatchers can take information and the deputy can be on his way, receiving further instructions by radio."

"When I started we were being paid 7 cents a mile for using our own cars. I worked the first year under probation for $240 a month. Then that was increased by 15 percent — about $35."

Today Bosshard's deputies operate out of six county-owned vehicles, working approximately 60 hours a week. Deputies without experience begin work for the county at $640; certified peace officers with one year of experience start at $700 per month. Work schedules are arranged so that every man works the same amount of weekend time, and so that each is off 2 days a week, and receives one three-day weekend per 28-day work cycle.

"Unless they are working on an individual burglary case or doing undercover work on narcotics most of the men are free after they leave at 6 p.m. till they come to work at 7 or 7:30 a.m."

"We used to work six days a week, every third Sunday and approximately four nights a week after supper. Then take calls for the rest of the night. Whenever I was available, I was on call."

"Most of the calls now are handled by the dispatcher and funneled to the proper party. If we have a routine drunk I will never be told about it till the next day, but if we have a murder they'll notify me right away."

Deputies are issued a .357 magnum pistol and Sam Brown belt, flashlight and batteries. Each car is equipped with a riot shotgun, jumper cables, first aid kit.

"When I started we furnished our own equipment — own gun, badge, handcuffs, flashlight, batteries and ammunition. All that is being furnished now."

"THE FIRST BADGE they gave me was a hand-me-down. I received the badge Bud Jordan had worn, before he was promoted to chief deputy. I think maybe Sheriff Matysek (the late Henry Matysek, Bosshard's predecessor who died in office) paid for it. He did buy equipment for the deputies out of his own pocket many a time."

My first gun was bought by Henry — but later I got my own and returned it."

DESPITE the fact that guns — and badges — are now supplied by the county, the addition of a central dispatch system, the personnel increases, the fact that 'marijuana' has become a household word, one thing seems to remain very much the same in the sheriff's office and the county: practical jokers.

Bosshard's telephone rings and, after listening a few moments to a concerned voice, he jovially yet reassuringly responds.

"No, I'm not looking for you; if I ever am, I will let you know — no one else. That's all right, I understand."

"That happens once a day or so," Bosshard explained.

"Various people call and want to know what I want them for."

A "friend" has "helpfully" let him know he's wanted by the sheriff. Invariably the concerned innocent cannot calmly sit idle, awaiting arrival of a patrol car and handcuffs.

He calls Bosshard to discover what crime he unwittingly committed.

"This guy called this morning, for example," Bosshard laughed. "He said what did I want, that I had called him at 9 a.m."

"I was at Belton testifying at 9 a.m. this morning."

It's all in a sheriff's day.

★Mixon jury

almost inaudibly, "I suppose not," to Vance's query.

Grimes maintained Vance's action was taken "arbitrarily, without consent of either party in this case," adding that Mrs. Webster had been forced to agree with the other 11 jurors.

JURORS HAD HEARD Mixon testify Wednesday that he spent about two hours in the U-Tote-M store December 6, trying to make telephone calls on an improperly working pay phone, and talking to the woman he is now accused of raping. He also testified that she had agreed to date him.

While Mixon said he grabbed the woman around the wrist and told her to give him the money in the cash register, he repeatedly testified he never hit or threatened to kill her as the store clerk had testified Tuesday. Saying she flirted with him in the store, Mixon also testified that she did not object to his later advances that there was no struggle in the car and that she never cried, directly reversing the woman's story.

He also said that he had stopped for gasoline in Waco, and to buy her some cigarettes — a point brought out by the supposed victim as well. Mixon testified she had requested the cigarettes and that she was not crying and did not call out to the station attendant. She testified that she was crying and too upset to call out, never saying who the cigarettes were for.

Both witnesses also recalled stopping at a roadside park.

"The one thing I thought was 'It's going to happen again,'" the woman cried. She said that although other cars were in the area she did not call out because Mixon, who had mentioned getting a blanket from the car trunk since the heater was not working, never left the car.

Mixon said he checked the trunk but did not find a blanket. He disputed that the woman had been crying then, and noted that several cars were stopped in the area.

OTHER CONTRADICTIONS led both attorneys to cast doubt on opposing testimony, with each trying in his argument to point out testimony he interpreted as supporting that of his client.

Grimes stressed that, while the alleged victim had testified being thrown to the ground, hitting with her knees and elbows several times, a doctor's examination reported cuts and abrasions on one arm and the opposite leg — none elsewhere. He also stated that if Mixon had hit the woman on the jaw, as she testified, the doctor would have noted discoloration rather than only the reported swelling.

Cedar Park Police Officer Ray Hardison, however, had testified Monday afternoon that he noticed a bruise on the woman's jaw.

"If he had hit her she would have had a mark on her face that people would have seen for days," Grimes said as he noted that the woman had not missed a day of work despite the incident.

He also recalled four witnesses who had disputed other statements by the woman. She had testified she dated two men she met at the store, but two others appeared to testify they had dated her. R. V. Gann, Cedar Park justice of the peace, also appeared, unfavorably testifying to the woman's demeanor.

"WHY DID SHE LIE?" Grimes asked. "Maybe more because of social pressure than anything else. She should have resisted. You expect it. The reason she fabricated part of her testimony was that she couldn't accept that she hadn't resisted."

Prosecution arguments also stressed physical evidence — bruises possibly later covered with makeup, torn stockings, the physician's testimony that she had dirt and grass in her hair when she was examined in Dallas.

In addition Connor questioned the "amazing haziness that we (Mixon) can have in memory" and suggested that had Mixon been as intoxicated as defense testimony stated he could not have driven unaltered to Dallas on IH35.

"I think there was knowledge, intent and memory," the district attorney stated.

"How many people do you know working at a store who would leave candy spilled on the floor, the cash register empty, her purse in the store — and just go?"

Connor listed the verbal and physical threats the woman alleged Mixon had made toward her, asking, "What do you do? She submitted — that's rape."

"Why should she report a rape unless there was one? What do you do when you are emotionally torn?" Replying to his own rhetorical question, the DA stressed the woman's sense of duty, then concluded by reiterating the list of physical evidence he said corroborated her testimony.

Ten hours of jury deliberation failed to resolve the discrepancies.

Grimes protested Thursday and Mixon testified Friday that he had been fed only a sweet roll and milk for dinner, had received no fruits or vegetables and could get no exercise except that obtainable as he was transferred to and from the courthouse, since his incarceration in early December.

"The way he said it, it could be true," protested Deputy Leon Kelly in turn, "but the way it is, it's not true."

Kelly, who has been in charge of the jail for approximately eight months, said prisoners are fed "eggs cooked different ways or oatmeal, toast and jelly and coffee or juice for breakfast. For lunch they have a meat item, bread, two vegetables every day at lunch and also I buy canned peaches or canned pears to serve as a dessert for lunch. It's not on a regular basis (the fruit dessert) — I'd say percentage-wise four days a week. I've been buying juices and serving juices along for lunch and sometimes for breakfast."

"FOR SUPPER," he agreed, "they get a sweet roll. If it's a package where the sweet rolls are small they get two of them. Where there are large individual rolls they get one and a glass of milk for supper. They get something to drink at all three — besides water. 'We try to feed as balanced a diet as we can on the budget.'"

Kelly said that at present no facilities are available for the prisoners to receive exercise, although he noted Mixon has a large cell, originally built to house over 20 prisoners before new standards requiring 30 percent of the cells to be of one-man capacity and all but one bunk was removed.

New Texas Commission on Jail Standards regulations should be adapted by January, he explained, with dietetic and exercise standards stipulated.

"I've been complimented on my food at the jail," stated Sheriff August Bosshard. "We run sometimes 200 prisoners a month through the jail and I have very few complaints. Of course, when a man doesn't want to be in jail, maybe nothing tastes good."

"If I was there the food probably wouldn't taste good either," Kelly echoed the sentiment.

Japan may get some of the oil to be produced in Alaska, mainly because of the oil will be difficult to deliver to Central and Eastern portions of this country, which sounds silly, doesn't it?

At mid-week President Ford appeared to be turning to John Connally for advice and possibly as a running-mate, should he make it to that point. To win the presidential race, the Republicans must carry Texas and perhaps Florida. The only way they can carry Texas, many experts believe, is to have Big John on the ticket.

SUMMER ROSE CARE — Roses need special care during the summer so that they will provide an abundance of blooms in the fall, points out a landscape horticulturist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Roses should be watered thoroughly twice a week if there is no rain. A 10-15-5 fertilizer should be applied around the base of the plant and worked lightly into the soil. Pruning the plants back one-third in August will produce a lot of blooms in October. A spray program to control blackspot and mildew should continue throughout the season.

EXTENSION HAS SOLID BASE — The Texas Agricultural Extension Service has learned to meet the needs of the people of this state and therefore has a solid base on which to build, said Dr. Daniel C. Pfannstiel, director of the state agency last week at the biennial State Extension Conference. The single most important thing we can do, he challenged the 1,000-member professional staff, is to continue to strengthen the direct involvement of people in the design and execution of Extension educational programs. He also stressed the team approach of county agents (generalists) supported by subject matter specialists and the use of the result demonstration method of teaching as a key tool for effective education.

AG EXPORTS CLIMB — Agricultural exports continue to increase and should reach $22 billion for 1976, points out an economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Texas ranks fourth in the nation in farm export sales. The increase in grain and wheat shipments to the Soviet Union has been a big factor in the rise of farm exports. The volume of agricultural exports for 1976 should exceed 100 million metric tons, a 20 percent increase over the 1975 volume. Exports of grain, wheat and soybeans make up about 90 percent of this volume. The value of agricultural imports for 1976 is expected to total about $10 billion, leaving a favorable agricultural trade balance of about $12 billion.
